2.6 Innovative processes adopted by the institution in Teaching and Learning:

In addition to traditional teaching methods (Chalk and Talk) most of our teachers have their own innovative ways to create the students to outreach the class room in terms of distribution of lecture notes online and transformation through PPTs. Our teachers are now working to prepare e-learning content to upload to the University website for the benefit of students.

Our library is facilitated with a computer centre where in they can browse e-learning content.

Industrial and Educational tours are organized by the departments to make the students aware of the latest developments in the industry/workplace.

To improve employability, experts from industry are invited to interact with the students. For almost all courses, project work is included in the curriculum to gain practical experience.

2.12 How does IQAC Contribute/Monitor/Evaluate the Teaching & Learning processes:

Students were made to come to classes and required to put minimum of 75% of attendance to become eligible for writing end semester examinations. For this purpose, University administration is initiating several measures such as open forums and other programmes periodically conducted. The outcome of this exercise is measured by maintaining of records of their performance in class rooms hourly attendance statement supplemented by biometric attendance. For every subject on an average 60 hours of teaching required as prescribed by curriculum design. By the use of time table (Hourly distributed workload of teachers) periodical (Monthly) reviews were conducted and progress of students evaluated. Only after this first and second internal assessment tests were conducted. Final end semester examinations were conducted only after conduct of 60 hours of teaching. The learning progress of students was evaluated in terms of internal assessment and every student of the class was given feed back of the teachers about weakness and strengths. They were properly advised where ever necessary to improve. At the end of the semester students feedback is collected and analysed. The inferences drawn in analysis are circulated to all the teachers. Those students who are failing to put up minimum required attendance are detained. Mentors are playing active role in counselling the students.

3.1 Initiatives of the IQAC in Sensitizing/Promoting Research Climate in the institution

Teachers from all the facilities encouraged to do research. Teachers without Ph.D. are motivated to take admission in Ph.D. programme to complete at the earliest. Accordingly they are encouraged by leave availment. The Ph.D. programme initiated in the year 2013, in this regard arrangements are on to issue notification for admission into Ph.D. programme. Already many teachers are actively engaged in the research activities but this activity definitely motivates the teachers. It is expected to see good results in the years to come.

A collaborative activity with District Administration was initiated under which all the teachers from various faculties identified relevant social issues by coordination with district administration it is proposed to make the study in the villages as part of their research activity. In addition, this is supplemented by rural immersion/engagement of students is also initiated. This action will be giving results by end of the year 2018-19.

4.2 Computerization of administration and library

The office administration is being computerised in all section works, finance and accounts. The staff of the office is also provided training to use computers to carry out office works by using computers. University administrative/office staff was given orientation on use of Tally software package for maintenance of accounts. The Assistant Registrar has attended the orientation programme on e-tender processing which was organised by Institute of Public Enterprise, Hyderabad. The library is completely computerised with automated library services with integrated library management software (SOUL 2.0).

University is equipped with all required highly configured computer systems. All online examinations such as IIT – JEE, Common Entrance Tests are conducted in the University. As part of digitization, most of the payments are made through on-line and various fees are collected through online.

Question papers are sent through online, As part of Digitization (Full automation) the National Informatics Centre (NIC) initiated the process of automation of entire university, work is going on and by the end of Academic Year 2018-19 it is expected to be completed.

5. Student Support and Progression

5.1 Contribution of IQAC in enhancing awareness about Student Support Services

During the induction meeting with students and parents in the beginning of the academic year the University make it point to bring awareness to students about the course admitted in to, syllabus, rules and regulations etc.. The facilities available on the campus i.e. Health care, Bank, physical fitness(Gym), Canteen, enhancement of their communication skills, placement of facilities, Industrial Tours, Field visits in the Departments like Social Work, Management and Geology, internship programmes in electrical engineering, computer engineering and electronic & communication engineering. Student's progress is monitored and the process of continuous evaluation is integral part of evaluation.

To facilitate the students to submit complaints/suggestions/feedback, boxes are installed in appropriate locations like administrative offices/hostels.

5.2 Efforts made by the institution for tracking the progression

1. Through comparison of number of students admitted with that of previous years.
2. Through the attendance & classes with that of previous years.
3. Through the comparison of results of each course with that of previous year.
4. By the improvement of laboratory facilities year by year.
5. By increasing the number of books, Magazines, Journals in library year by year.
6. By developing sports facilities year by year.
7. By improving the maintenance standards of Hostels year by year.
8. By scrutinizing the performance of teachers periodically.
9. By making the students academically busy even before and after the class hours on campus.

1.4 Details of student support mechanism for coaching for competitive examinations (If any)

Competitive coaching cell is functioning in the University to cater the needs of the students. For every public service commission notification the cell organises coaching for students according to their need.

Remedial classes for the students staying in University Hostels (Both Boys and Girls) were conducted on communicative English to improve their communication skills under the guidance of the Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, Mahatma Gandhi University, Nalgonda. These classes were conducted during the evening hours (from 5.00 to 6.00 PM) without disturbing their regular class work and other academics.

Sustainable Campus

Sustainability campus program is an endeavour undertaken by Mahatma Gandhi University, Nalgonda to reform the University Campus to be learning spaces that foster safety, health, education and sustainability. The program plans on renovating the campus through a variety of initiatives such as;

- Developing energy-saving programmes-tapping solar energy.
- Implementing water recycling and reuse system.
- Increase permeable ground surface and create artificial wetlands.
- Create multi layer plantations for carbon dioxide reduction and biodiversity.
- Composting foliage and kitchen waste.
- Recycling paper used in the examination branch.
- Construct Eco-ponds.

In addition to infrastructure and operational reforms the program emphasis on implementing education for sustainable development, through active learning i.e. Including pedagogy and curriculum that highlights and encourages sustainable development.

Workshop on rural development held

Workshop on rural development held

OUR BUREAU

Nalgonda: HMDA Commissioner Chiranjeevulu stated that development of any country depends upon its education system.

On Friday, he attended as a chief guest at the two-day workshop on curriculum development on rural community engagement of students organised by MGU in collaboration with national council of rural institutes, at the conference hall in Arts block of MGU.

Stating that many universities across the country have been doing research work on rural development, he appreciated MGU for coming forward for case studying the rural development.

Exemplifying South Korea's success in mobile phones sector, he felt education must be practical and skills development oriented.

He advised the officials to do research on problems in rural areas in the district and suggested amicable solutions to the government.

University Vice-Chancellor Altaf Hussain said that from this academic year university is going to start projects on rural development to UG and PG students and every student must visit villages to know the problems existing there. He told them to suggest solutions to the problems in their project report. He also informed that the University entered into MOU with many organisations to develop skills in the students.

National Council of Rural Development Chairman Dr Prasanna Kumar in his key note speech said universities have to strive hard in finding solutions for strengthening and developing rural areas and economy.

He informed that students of IIM of Gwalior under the guidance of their professor made 160 useful project reports for the welfare of villages. NCRD will provide a financial assistance of Rs 50,000 for the projects that were organised at rural areas.

Jala Sadhana Samithi Convenor Dushcharla Satyanaryana shared his experiences and achievement of getting Krishna water to address the drinking water problem of erstwhile Nalgonda district through the year-long agitations by involving fluoride hit villagers.

University officials Umesh Kumar, Ramesh, Vasumathi, Anji Reddy and faculties of various departments of university participated in the programme.
